The Committee received a presentation on policing from Inspectors Paul Austin and Stephen Wright. During the presentation the Police explained their response to the global pandemic and the impact that it has had on the types of crime being committed. The presentation showed that there had been an overall reduction in crime in Harlow, although there had been an increase in ASB, partly due to lockdown contraventions. Inspector Austin also explained that Operation Raptor had helped to target modern slavery and county lines in the town. Following the pandemic and lockdown, the Police would be re-focussing on face to face engagement, the use of closure orders for problem properties, targeted ASB patrols and the town centre.

Inspector Austin showed the Committee solve rates for crime in Harlow and confirmed that the figures could be sent to Committee Members for their information but were published on the Commissioners Website. In response to questions on crime in the town centre and different neighbourhood hatches, Inspector Austin advised that the Police had a variety of techniques including increased patrols and engagement, partnership working, CCTV and the Town Centre Action Plan.

When asked about the impact and dynamics of serious organised crime, Inspector Austin confirmed that the Police now find it easier to identify other types of serious organised crime. The Police have also had more time to be proactive. In terms of County Lines, the Operation Raptor team has a strong understanding of the area and was on top of different lines that they were aware of. The Police also confirmed that they were better at recognising modern slavery e.g. car washes, nail bars and brothels.

Inspector Austin advised that there were still options available to victims of domestic abuse despite Covid-19 restrictions. Inspector Austin also agreed that a future meeting between Essex Police and the Council to discuss domestic abuse in Harlow could be arranged.

The Police confirmed that the current partnership working with the Council was working really well. Inspector Austin asked for any support the Council may be able to provide when face to face community engagement recommenced.

The Committee thanked the Police for attending the meeting and for all of their work in the town. The Committee agreed to consider the information provided by the Police and any recommendations for Cabinet at a later meeting.
